A SNOWY DAY.

Beniah Went Down into a Pit and Slew a Lion.

A Man Who Had a Backache That No One Else Could Cure.

Dr. Talmage took for his subject "A Snowy Day," the text selected being Isaiah 11: 1-9.

Have you ever heard of him? His name was Beniah. He was a man of stout muscle and of great endurance.

His father was a doctor, and he followed his profession. He was athletic, and there was iron in his blood and the strongest bone in his body was back.

He was a man of great endurance, and he was a man of great endurance.

He was a man of great endurance, and he was a man of great endurance.

He was a man of great endurance, and he was a man of great endurance.

He was a man of great endurance, and he was a man of great endurance.

He was a man of great endurance, and he was a man of great endurance.

He was a man of great endurance, and he was a man of great endurance.

He was a man of great endurance, and he was a man of great endurance.

He was a man of great endurance, and he was a man of great endurance.

WATCH OUT.

IF in grocery stores, in cooking schools, or by peddlers in your kitchen, other baking powders are recommended or urged upon you in place of the Royal, reject them. It is unsafe to substitute any baking powder in place of the old standby, the thoroughly tried Royal. The official reports show that all others are cheaper made powders of inferior strength, and contain lime, alum or sulphuric acid.

Send us a card or drop in the office and tell us, we will gladly make corrections.

Jailer Wagners of Richmond, Va., has never let a prisoner escape. Tom Williams, a white man, who was serving a sentence on the rock pile gave him the slip last summer and since that time Wagners has been hunting him through the police offices of various States. Last week he reported him at Harrodsburg and sent him back in his old quarters. Winchester Democrat.

The CLIMAX is the place to get horse and jack canis printed. We are well equipped for the business and are determined to please our customers. Best rack prices have been reached on stock and descriptions, and the tendency now is to better rates in the near future. For your horse or jack well advertised. Commence early, keep them before the public, and you will stand a better chance for sharing in the business during the season.

The Daily Capital, published at Frankfort, is one of the most valuable newspapers to the people of Kentucky. It publishes every day much reliable and interesting information concerning State affairs that cannot be found in any other paper, such as abstracts of all the Court of Appeals decisions next after delivery, rulings of the State Departments on all questions affecting County and City officers and their fees, rights, etc., and political and official gossip that is always readable. The subscription price is only five dollars per year. Send for sample copies. Address Capital Printing Co., Frankfort, Ky.

Yanahrd was acquitted by the jury at Harrodsburg in 20 minutes after they left the court room. The verdict was a surprise to most everyone, as it was confidently supposed that he would at least be convicted of manslaughter. It will take more than 20 minutes for the average Kentucky man to acquit him of the crime of jumping lead into the back of an unarmed man, no matter what the man's offense may have been. There is a sense of fair play usually present among our fighting men, that seems to have been overlooked in this case. With this acquittal and that recently by a jury in Mr. Sterling before us, it is a wonder that nob law at times seems expedient.

Winchester is reported as being without a prisoner in the county or city jail. There must surely be something wrong with her officials. Perhaps the times have been so hard during the present winter that the "boys" have not energy enough left to cause a disturbance and so fall into the clutches of the law. We can furnish you with the finest lot of crop sheeters on earth, and perhaps a few chicken and cat thieves thrown in.

Has tastes mediocrity in keeping with other mediocrity. A remedy must be applied acceptable in form, purely wholesome in composition, truly beneficial in effect and entirely free from every objectionable quality. If it really is the case a physician if consulted he uses the gentle family laxative Syrup of Figs.

Bargains, bargains. Mrs. H. MAIER, 21 First Street. A blaze will start. Powell & Turley Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder World's Fair Medal Awarded and Endorsed.

Some Railroad Changes.

H. R. Smith, of Irvine, has been appointed agent at Panola on the R. N. E. & B. R. R., vice Matt Hacker who will be transferred to Irvine. Estill, agent at Irvine, will be transferred to Nicholasville, vice R. V. Bolling, resigned. The transfer will take place this week, as soon as the Auditor checks the offices.

Relics of Former Days. By the kindness of Mr. Joe Rush we become the possessor of two large iron door keys that were found by the men excavating the foundation of the house on the corner of "12" and Irvine streets. The keys are supposed to have belonged to a house which stood on this same location in 1816.

Robbed by Cyprins. Robert Harris, a farmer living on the Big Hill pike, visited a house of ill fame in this city night before last and while there was relieved of all his cash by Zerella Stevens and Bettie Rowe, two tough inmates of the bagnio. The robbery was reported to the authorities, who have been endeavoring to find the culprits, but they have not been able to do so. The following morning on the 6 o'clock train, they were traced to Lexington and immediately arrested and held there upon the order of Chief of Police Fennell. Policeman Perry went to Lexington in the afternoon to bring them to Richmond. They will be tried this morning.

Colored Legitimacy. Charlie Bennett, a colored colored man who lives at H. J. Bennett's six or eight miles out on the Lancaster pike, is a genuine. He is not only the fastest bicycle rider in the county, but he is the greatest mechanic and other parts of the "bike" with unusual neatness and dispatch. But this is a small matter compared to his recent efforts in locomotive modeling. He has just completed in wood two locomotives, one a eight-wheel passenger, the other a ten-wheel freight, each about one yard in length, that are perfect in form and all exterior appointments. Each has a tender and perhaps other rolling stock and a short piece of road for their exhibition. The smokestack, head-light, cow-catcher, engine, wheels, pistons, rods, and axles, call by name and windows, and other requisites are perfectly formed, and finished in black and gilt to represent iron and brass. One of the most remarkable features in this production is that no tools were used but a pocket knife. Charlie has never had any experience or instruction in mechanism, and if the Railroad Locomotive Works or some similar concern doesn't take him in, it will be a wonder.

MAJOR BAIN INDICTED. Serious Crime of Which Mr. Sterling's Chief Executive is Accused. Among the indictments returned by the grand jury issue against Adam Bain, Major of Mr. Sterling, charging him with enticing the thirteen-year-old child of Henry Watson, a City Councilman, into his store and subjecting the child to indecent treatment. This alleged assault of Bain's is said to have occurred about the middle of last October and at that time Watson and several boys Major Bain in November. Major Bain is a prosperous merchant, a large property owner and married. He and Watson have been friends until Bain's alleged assault on the child.

While Bain has the one indictment, Watson has four or more to answer as the result of the grand jury's work. One is for assault on Bain, two for illegal sale of whiskey and one for obtaining money by fraud. This last is for securing a loan of several times the worth of a piece of property from a building and loan association. The application upon which this loan was made is said to have been fraudulent in its statements. Courier-Journal.

The large of shippers confined in jail, of whom Captain Chief Fennell at Wilmington, O., mention was made last week, will come before the County Judge for their examining trial on Thursday. The men have been very guarded as to making statements and evidently hope to win their freedom by some shrewd contention put on the last day of the trial.

From indications caught here and there, we would advise them to make tracks for "fall timber" on short notice if they succeed in their efforts. A stylishly dressed lady, who professes to be the wife of one of the parties, was at the Willis House last week. She seemed somewhat nervous and a legal fight will be made. Personating themselves J. M. Quick and J. Packard have been arraigned before the Attorney Police Court in Chicago, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. They were running or conducting the baracca Collecting Company, 290 Michigan Avenue, a take out money which was limited down and raised by the Dispatch of that city.

Their program was to take membership fees from small merchants, which being accomplished, usually closed the deal, as they seldom or never made any attempts to collect any of the debts. Another scheme was to advertise for a party with $500 cash to put into the business and a promise of $200 a week salary, and 25 per cent commission. One account we have is that when Quick and Packard were arrested by Detective Storen a desperate effort was made by money. Storen found it necessary to call officer M. Padden to his assistance. He read the warrants to Quick and Packard and when Quick threw the roll of money to his wife. She caught it, but the officers wanted it also, and one of them took the woman by the wrist when she attempted to flee him. In the melee she dropped the roll and which contained $85. Their cases were continued by Justice Bradwell until Feb. 9th. Quick was under $1000 bond and Packard $500.

These men are the same and there appears to be little doubt in the promises, they are adept in this line of swindling and number their victims by the hundreds. We do not desire to see innocent men punished, but if the law can be made to reach them it looks as though they were fitting enijoyers.

Chief Fennell has had quite a time in securing the men, and will prosecute them to the extent of the law. It is said by several prominent attorneys that nothing can be done with them. If the law does not reach such offenders it should be amended at the earliest possible moment.

The Modern Invalid Has tastes mediocrity in keeping with other mediocrity. A remedy must be applied acceptable in form, purely wholesome in composition, truly beneficial in effect and entirely free from every objectionable quality. If it really is the case a physician if consulted he uses the gentle family laxative Syrup of Figs.

Burglary.

On Water street, at the residence of L. Z. Taylor, yesterday morning, some miscreant broke a glass in a side window and effected an entrance. Mr. Taylor had left the house about 7 o'clock in pursuance of his business and on his return discovered the depredation. The burglar ate what he could and rummaged the house thoroughly, opening drawers etc. Among other things he found a watch case belonging to Mrs. Taylor, but she being absent from home had the watch on her person. This was a very bold and daring act, occurring as it did, in broad daylight with neighbors close at hand. Our thieving client here should receive sharp attention. It is almost a nightly occurrence for some one to lose chickens, cats or anything left around house. Mr. Taylor has not as yet missed anything excepting the foot taken.

Later—Mr. L. Z. Taylor reported just before we went to press that the party who broke into his house had been caught, but his name is Robert Peyton a colored boy about 15 years of age. He was found eating some of the food taken from the house. Has confessed his crime. [Two years in the pen. He didn't kill anybody.]

The Dramatic Entertainment. The charitable disposed members of our community gathered on mass Saturday night at the court house to listen to and see the entertainment by the Dramatic Club, of this city. The play was a charming two act drama, written by the accomplished lady, Mrs. C. D. Chenuau, for the purpose of this charitable entertainment, and was well received in all its parts by the club. The Dramatic Personae, were:

Col. Winter.....Jas. N. Neale
Dr. Geo. Kallman.....C. E. Woods
Duncan, the Butler.....G. W. Evans, Jr.
Mrs. Winter.....Miss Maria W. Smith
Miss Estlin Winter.....Miss Belle McDowell
Margaret, the Maid.....Miss Jessie Taylor

The characters were well sustained and all passed off in a delightful manner much to the enjoyment of about four hundred persons, who filled the seats in the body of the building.

The musical program was excellent and repeatedly encored by the audience. Mrs. Harry R. Hauger favored the assemblage with one or two of her favorite vocal selections, and Miss Melton with instrumental. The enterprise was a success both as a means to raise a fund for the relief of our worthy distressed fellow citizens, and from an artistic standpoint, and we congratulate the organizers and upon those participating in the play.

James Bookshire and Sam Reffert got into an altercation last Thursday near Spearsville which resulted in Bookshire hitting Reffert on the forehead with an ox bow paralyzing him for a few moments.

Rufus Jenkins, of Newby, and Richard Taylor, of Millton, came down Sunday for no other purpose than watch the ice on the river. They saw a lot of ice and as they never left till an hour after that night.

J. W. Masters was awakened one night last week by a noise that came from his well-packed smoke-house and as a natural consequence visions of thieves, robbers and cut throats were the first thing that flashed through his mind. He arose and walked tremblingly toward the door, then to the window but could not see them. He forgot to open the door or raise the blinds as they were, as he thought, saving around the lock. A happy thought came to him in the emergency and he called his clerk, Mr. Eliad Haden, one who "keeps no noise" that was sleeping in an adjoining room, that responded promptly with "pop" in hand and tiptoed across the room to the dreadful door, he stopped and listened. Then with courage he began pulling the door slowly open; it opened easy, (but it pained him) and he saw a goodly company of thieves and robbers. They were just entering the thickest part of the woods with their well-trained team dogs when a short distance behind them they heard a sound as if someone was hitting the ground with a couple of boards; they stopped, holding their lanterns, to look for the thing that caused the commotion, but could see nothing. They started on and it came nearer and nearer. They stopped, raised their lanterns, and there, in the glare of their lanterns, with its eyes flashing not twenty feet from them stood an animal of a yellowish color. They hissed their dogs which started towards it but the best gave the animal a yell, which caused them to retreat. They hissed their dogs which started towards it but the best gave the animal a yell, which caused them to retreat. They were just entering the thickest part of the woods when a short distance behind them they heard a sound as if someone was hitting the ground with a couple of boards; they stopped, holding their lanterns, to look for the thing that caused the commotion, but could see nothing. They started on and it came nearer and nearer. They stopped, raised their lanterns, and there, in the glare of their lanterns, with its eyes flashing not twenty feet from them stood an animal of a yellowish color.
